FEBRUARY 7TH, 2011 UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT

Upcoming Events

- ◆ A Careers for the Common Good resume writing workshop will be held on Tuesday, February 8th, 2011 from 12:00-1:00 PM in SU 324. For more information about the workshop and the Career for the Common Good, please visit <http://www.career.uconn.edu>.
- ◆ The 2010-2011 Human Rights in the Americas Film Series continues this Wednesday, February 9th at 4:00 pm with the film Sipakapa is Not for Sale (2005) in Konover Auditorium at the Thomas J. Dodd Research Center. Montana Exploradora, subsidiary of the Canadian/US transnational company Glamis Gold, received 45 million US dollars in financing from the World Bank to exploit an open-pit gold mine in Sipakapa, Guatemala. In accordance with ILO Convention 169, a Community Consultation was held in this Maya region to establish whether the population would accept or reject mining exploitation in its territory. The result was a resounding "NO" to mining. Sipakapa is Not for Sale analyses the debate on mining exploitation and demonstrates the dignity of the Sipakapan People as they fight to defend their autonomy in the face of encroaching neoliberal megaprojects. For more information, please visit http://doddcenter.uconn.edu/events/hr\_film\_series\_2010\_2011.htm.
- ◆ Day of Remembrance Film. The Day of Remembrance is an annual examination of the legacy of Executive Order 9066 that led to the violation of the constitutional and human rights of Japanese people in the Americas during World War Two. The 2011 Day of Remembrance will feature a public screening of the independent film Aoki (2009) on Thursday, February 10th from 4:00-6:00 pm at the Student Union Theatre. The film chronicles the fight for access to education that paved the way for establishing ethnic studies on college campuses, the lessons of solidarity and commitment to social justice, and a crucial link between redressing historical injustice and the reparations movement. A discussion will follow by AASI's Cathy Schlund-Vials. For more information, please visit <http://asianamerican.uconn.edu>.
- ◆ The Rainbow Center Coffee House continues this Friday evening, February 11th from 5:00-9:00 pm. With free coffee, tea, cocoa and treats at SU 403. FEBRUARY 21ST, 2011 UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT

Upcoming Events

- ◆ Rainbow Center Lecture Series. The Rainbow Center's Out to Lunch Lecture Series continues this semester with a presentation by Genny Beemyn, entitled, "Transgender History: Absent, Appropriated, or Obscured?" on Wednesday, February 23rd from 12:00–1:30 pm at the Student Union (SU 403). To what extent can transsexual and transgender people be said to have a history before the development of these identities? Can historical figures who crossdressed, such as Joan of Arc and Radclyffe Hall, be claimed as trans predecessors? How has what it means to be gender nonconforming or gender different changed over time and developed differently in different cultures? This presentation will seek to address these questions through an examination of the experiences of individuals who lived as a gender different than the gender assigned to them at birth in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. For more information, please visit <http://www.rainbowcenter.uconn.edu/Programs/otl.html>.
- ◆ Shujaa Graham: From Death Row to Freedom. On Wednesday, February 23rd, Shujaa Graham will lecture on the death penalty at the Student Union Ballroom (Room 331) from 7:00-9:00 pm. Shujaa Graham was sent to death row for a crime he did not commit. After four trials he was found innocent. He now travels around the country and lectures on "the death penalty, the criminal justice system, racism, incarceration and innocence in America." A Q&A session will follow the lecture. MARCH 14TH, 2011

UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT

Upcoming Events

- ◆ On the occasion of International Women's Day, the International Center is hosting World Café: Focus on Women's Issues on Monday (today!), March 14th at 5:30 pm in SU 307. If you are interested in international women's issues, World Café is the event for you. For more information, please visit <http://www.disp.uconn.edu>.
- ◆ Women's Studies Speaker Spotlight. On Tuesday, March 15th, at 11:30 am in Babbidge Library's Class of 1947 room, Dr. Grace Kyungwon Hong will present her talk "Citizenship and Biopower" as part of the UConn Women's Studies Program Spring 2011 Globalization and Its Discontents Series. In Dr. Hong's talk, she asks what happens to the state under globalization. Using Foucauldian theories of biopower, Dr. Hong's presentation argues for a contextualization within a history of gendered racial capital. She situates the decolonization / liberation movements in Asia and Africa and the new social movements in the U.S. as turning points. For more information, please visit <http://www.womens.studies.uconn.edu>.
- ◆ Book Discussion. Dr. Richard Wilson, Director of the UConn Human Rights Institute will discuss his new book Writing History in International Criminal Trials on Tuesday, March 15th at 4:00 pm at the UConn Co-op. The book is a result of Dr. Wilson's empirical research with judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, and expert witnesses in three international criminal tribunals to understand how law and history are combined in the courtroom.
- ◆ The 2010-2011 Human Rights in the Americas Film Series continues this Wednesday, March 16th at 4:00 pm with the film Machuca (2004) in Konover Auditorium at the Thomas J. Dodd Research Center. Machuca is a 2004 Chilean narrative film written and directed by Andrés Wood. Set in 1973 Santiago during Salvador Allende's socialist government and shortly before General Augusto Pinochet's military coup in 1973, the film tells the story of two friends, one of them the very poor Pedro Machuca who is integrated into the elite school of his friend Gonzalo Infante. ## Upcoming Events

- ◆ Rainbow Center Lecture Series. The Rainbow Center's Out to Lunch Lecture Series continues with a presentation by Myron Genel entitled, "Athletic Sex: Gender Identity and Validation in Athletic Competition." on Wednesday, March 23rd from 12:00-1:30 pm at the Student Union (SU 403). Genel will review recent controversies regarding elite female athletes who have disorders of sex development or DSDs, in particular the South African half-miler, Caster Semenya and then briefly review the various aspects of sex determination. For more information, please visit <http://www.rainbowcenter.uconn.edu/Programs/otl.html>.
- ◆ Women and International Policy Seminar. The Public Leadership Education Network (PLEN) presents the Women and International Policy Seminar from May 23-27 in Washington D.C. This is an opportunity to explore foreign policy issues with women decision makers in world affairs and learn about public policy career opportunities in international relations. These women are members of Congress, major judicial figures, presidential advisors, senior government leaders, veteran non-profit advocates and corporate lobbyists. The last date for registering is April 29th. For more information and to register, please visit <http://plen.org/programs/seminars/international/>.
- ◆ Performance Lecture. Prof. James Thompson presents a performance lecture "An Incident of Cutting and Chopping" on the Bindunuwewa child soldier massacre in Sri Lanka on Monday, March 28th from 4:00-8:00 pm in the Nafe Katter Theatre. The lecture asks questions about the relationship between theatre practitioners and the contexts in which they work, and where responsibilities lie when things go wrong. "An Incident of Cutting and Chopping" is linked to a commemorative project about the massacre that has been developed in Sri Lanka in the years since the event and draws on material in the opening chapter of Prof. Thompson's new book, "Performance Affects". For more information regarding this event, please contact Gary English at gary.english@uconn.edu.

Upcoming Events

- ◆ The 2010-2011 Human Rights in the Americas Film Series concludes this year with the film Fresa y Chocolate (Strawberry and Chocolate) on Wednesday, April 13th at 4:00 pm in Konover Auditorium at the Thomas J. Dodd Research Center. Fresa y Chocolate opened in Cuba in the year 1993 and within the space of a few months became one of the biggest box-office successes for Tomás Gutiérrez Alea, one of Latin America's celebrated and Cuba's most revered filmmakers. The story is set in 1979, a year before the upheaval of the Mariel boatlift. The film centers around Diego, a flamboyant, gay man who spots the beautiful young David at an ice cream shop and sets out to woo him. For more information, please visit http://doddcenter.uconn.edu/events/hr\_film\_series\_2010\_2011.htm.

Upcoming Events

- ◆ Idealists United cordially invites you to participate in “Be Hope to Her” (BH2O), brought to you by Nuru International. BH2O is an event where women and men on college campuses get together to carry buckets of water on their heads to raise money for and awareness of women and girls in the developing world who have to walk miles everyday to access clean water. Join the BH2O walk on Wednesday, April 20th from 10:00am - 2:00pm at Fairfield Way and help raise money for BH2O sponsor Nuru International to drill wells in Kenya. For more information about this event and to register, please visit www.idealistsunited.net/#/bh2o.

- ◆ Professor Bruce Cumings, University of Chicago, will present a talk titled “History and Memory in the Korean War: Apocalypse, Absence, Amnesia” on Thursday, April 21st from 3:00-5:00 pm at the Benton Museum. A reception will follow the talk. For more information about this event, please contact Rachel Jackson at rachel.jackson@uconn.edu.
- ◆ Sackler Lecture in Human Rights. As part of the Raymond and Beverly Sackler Distinguished Lecture in Human Rights Series, Dr. Diane Orentlicher will present her lecture on “International Justice, Transitional Justice: What Have We Learned About What “Works?” on Thursday, April 21st from 4:00-5:00 pm in the Dodd Konover Auditorium. Diane F. Orentlicher is currently serving as Deputy, Office of War Crimes Issues, in the Department of State. Described by the Washington Diplomat as “one of the world’s leading authorities on human rights law and war crimes tribunals,” Ms. Orentlicher has previously served in various public positions, including as United Nations Independent Expert on Combating Impunity and as Special Advisor to the High Commissioner on National Minorities of the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe. For more information, please visit <http://doddcenter.uconn.edu/events/sackler/index.htm>.
- ◆ India Studies Film and Discussion. On Thursday, April 21st, from 4:30-6:30 pm in the Class of 1947 Room at the Homer Babbidge Library, filmmaker Ranjan Kamath will present his feature film dealing with three decades of the Naxalite (extreme-left) movement in the state of Bihar in eastern India. The film portrays the change over 30 years in social and political status of the Scheduled Castes. It is an exploration of caste dynamics in Bihar and raises the question as to whether any benefit has accrued to the Scheduled Castes, or are they mere pawns on the political chessboard? For more information about this event, please visit <http://www.oia.uconn.edu>.
